

Mary Ward International Australia (MWIA)

supports Loreto justice and development initiatives in Australia and overseas by:

- raising awareness of and educating about social justice issues
- developing partnerships
- encouraging volunteering
- fundraising to support new and ongoing initiatives.

MWIA develops partnerships within the global Loreto network which promote dignity, advocate for women and children, challenge unjust structures and educate for the future. These partnerships provide a vital link between Loreto Sisters in Australia and the global Loreto network providing opportunities for people to be involved.

Thanks to our generous supporters MWIA is able to provide education, training, capacity building and employment opportunities for disadvantaged children and their families. Here are some examples:

Australia

- Provide education, counselling and capacity building for Indigenous and non-Indigenous communities, mainly in isolated and under-resourced communities.

Vietnam

- Provide and support educational opportunities for marginalised children, children living with a disability and young people.

Timor Leste

- Work with young people with a focus on tertiary education and child care.

India

- Provide vocational education, counselling, women's programs and primary education for street children.

Darjeeling Region

- Provide education, community development, micro-credit and healthcare for tribal people, ethnic minorities, displaced people and migrant workers.

East Africa

- Support, empower and train young people living on the streets.
- Care and counsel women and children affected by HIV/AIDS.
- Advocate against the practice of female genital mutilation.

Zambia

- Support young people and children from the most marginalised regions by providing resources and teacher training to improve their educational opportunities.

Financial support from individuals, schools, past pupils and parents associations, community groups and businesses are helping MWIA make a long lasting and practical difference. You too can help. Simply fill out the donation slip attached or contact us on:
